Online Certificate in Teacher Leadership for Working Professionals

The Center for eLearning at FAU is committed to increasing access to education, improving student-learning outcomes, and reducing instructional costs by effectively utilizing technology in course delivery redesigns. The Center for eLearning staff works closely with distance learning faculty members to provide the same level of quality and interaction students get in face-to-face classes. Many of FAU’s distance learning courses have received certification from Quality Matters, a third-party organization that verifies the quality of online programs.

Your road map to becoming a successful teacher leader begins at Florida Atlantic University (FAU), where College of Education faculty deliver outstanding online instruction at the graduate level with courses that meet national quality benchmarks.

The Teacher Leadership Certificate (TLC) is a 15-credit professional development program designed to provide the essential tools teachers need to become highly effective leaders of grade and school level teams. This innovative program fosters leadership development through an interactive set of experiences that include sound theoretical and “best practice” knowledge, problem-based coursework, and field-based experiences. Program graduates are empowered to become teacher leaders who are committed to making schools culturally relevant, equitable, and supportive learning environments for all students. This program prepares and empowers teachers as leaders who transform the teaching profession in the best interest of students.

A partnership between the Department of Educational Leadership and Research Methodology and the Department of Curriculum, Culture, and Educational Inquiry.
